Infection Control

The battle to control the spread of disease is a priority in the minds of all health care professionals. From their comprehensive response health care database, Byrum & Fleming has assembled a selection of professionals, facilities and physicians involved in this critical battle. This list is an ideal source for: continuing medical education providers, wholesale and retail medical supplies distributors, medical device/equipment manufacturers and distributors, pharmaceutical & medication suppliers, oxygen equipment providers and janitorial & medical facility cleaning services. Updated monthly, all of these selects are at office address.
