PUBLIC HEALTH OFFICES, PUBLIC HEALTH OFFICIALS

The only complete list of city, county and state public health officials and providers. Quickly locate the personal names of individual city, county and state public health officials and providers. In addition, corresponding job titles are also available. Orders can be placed by geography to narrow your search further to a specific locale. Potential responders would have an interest in educational materials concerning such health issues as alcohol and drug abuse, nutritional counseling, women's health and pregnancy, teen or spousal violence, senior healthcare services and programs, and community-wide disease control. Additional interests would include accessing information on city and nationwide vital statistics, public health indicators, topics on health research and strategic planning for government policies. Along with government public health officials, local community programs, clinics and health services, volunteer organizations and public support groups could share interests and be additional responders to consider. This is a response list enhanced with other interests from undisclosed national files.
